Broadcast

KBS

National broadcaster KBS has extended its exclusive media rights agreement in Korea to cover the Hyundai Archery World Cup and Hyundai World Archery Championships in the new Olympic year of 2021. ## Athletes

Retirement

Five-time Paralympian John Cavanagh has retired. The 64-year-old represented Great Britain from the Sydney 2000 Paralympic Games through to Rio 2016, setting records in 2004 on his way to W1 gold and following that up with a silver medal at Beijing 2008. After competing in five successive Paralympics, he had his heart set on retiring at the conclusion of the Games this summer in Tokyo. But with the upcoming Paralympics now postponed until next year due to the COVID-19 pandemic, and with no sign of his ongoing shoulder injuries letting up, Cavanagh announced earlier this month that he has decided to call time on his career.

Teams

National coach

Former world number one Peter Elzinga is set to join the Dutch archery team's coaching staff, replacing outgoing assistant Emiel Custers. The 39-year-old compound archer was European Champion in 2004, silver medallist at the first Archery World Cup Final in 2006 and was, until recently, an active member of the Netherlands' international squad. Currently the 15th-ranked compound man in the world, Elzinga also said this move would not mark the end of his own archery career.

Korean trials

Korea's national team selection process for 2021 has begun – and in some cases already ended, as the compound categories have been announced. Trials for the compound team were held over three days, finishing on Monday 26 October, at the team's national training centre in Yecheon, located one hour south of Seoul. The first and second phases of the traditionally gruelling recurve selection process took place as well, with 20 archers selected for winter squads. It is unclear when the selection process will resume, but it is likely to be in the new year.

Poland's Lukasz Przybylski and Magdalena Smialkowska claimed their first international podiums as they won the compound men's and recurve women's events, respectively, at the 2020 Antalya International Challenge. Artem Makhnenko of Russia and Andrea Marcos of Spain also collected victories at this first major tournament following the end of the competition hiatus, which was in place from March to September due to the worldwide pandemic. More than 100 archers from 13 countries competed in Antalya.

How clubs can join

The new format of the 2021 Indoor Archery World Series presents an exciting opportunity for archery ranges of all sizes to join an international tournament. Participating archers can shoot their 60-arrow 18-metre ranking round anywhere – and that means that any club or range can also be an official Indoor Archery World Series competition venue. The mass-participation circuit, combining live and virtual events, runs from November 2020 to December 2021.

How to enter a team

The team events were launched with the Indoor Archery World Series as a way for companies, clubs and independent groups to compete together on an international circuit but, this year, they're taking centre stage. With the series moving to a combined live and virtual format due to the ongoing worldwide pandemic, the team events have been made remote, too. Indoor Archery World Series teams are not restricted to national squads.
